

Part Two: Fee and Access Plan (required for publication)

Fee and Access Plan
Name of institution	Wrexham Glyndŵr University
Duration of the fee and access plan	1 August 2022 to 31 July 2023 for 2022/23 fee and access plan.
Section 1 - Fee levels
Section 1.1 – The determination of a fee level at each location
The University will be determining the fee level for 2022/23 in line with the requirements of the HE (Wales) 2015 Act regulations (http://www.legislation.gov.uk/anaw/2015/1/contents/enacted). In doing this the University makes clear that: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The fee level is calculated, recognising the maximum permitted, in line with the sector norm; • Information on current and proposed fee levels can be found on the University’s website (https://www.glyndwr.ac.uk/en/Feesandstudentfinance/) • The fee levels are approved by the University’s Board of Governors following recommendations made by the University’s management team. The Board of Governors approves <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ the process of, and methodology for, determining fees; ○ The maximum fee that they are allowed to charge by the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales, and no more, being the fee that will be charged; ○ That any changes will be communicated clearly and as soon as possible to students and applicants; ○ If the University decides to change the Fee that it wished to charge after the Fee and Access Plan has been approved, authority to do this will be sought from the Chair of the Board of Governors in consultation with the Chair of the Strategy and Finance Committee. All decisions relating to tuition fees will be taken in consultation with the Students’ Union and will be communicated to any students and prospective students affected by any change

Section 1.2 - Aggregate fee levels (Guidance paragraphs 98-102)

The University intends to charge the maximum fee level for full-time, undergraduate courses for 2022/23, which is determined upon approval of this fee and access plan by the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (HEFCW). The proposed fee level will not exceed the maximum amount permitted.

The maximum fee level is currently £9,000. Tuition fees may increase annually for all students (Home/EU undergraduate fees, whose rates are regulated by the UK and Welsh Government, will be amended in line with any alteration advised by the Welsh Government). The fees stated are for your first year only. For subsequent years, for continuing students studying in Wales, fees may increase year on year by inflation in each academic year of study except where regulated. The Fee for 2022/23 has currently been set at £9,000. Any amendment to these will be communicated to students and prospective students.

The University, in response to changes in the maximum fee allowed by Welsh Government, reserves the right to change fee levels post Fee and Access Plan submission. Any changes in Fee levels would have to be agreed by HEFCW and would be communicated to students, using the means outlined below. Changes in fee levels could impact on the full range of provision which is outlined within this Plan, which currently is based upon an assumption of a maximum fee level of £9,000.

For those students studying at Barking and Dagenham on the BA Business programme the fee for 2022/23 is £6,000 per student per annum. The University has no sandwich year provision.

For students who enrolled in previous years, the University will honour the commitments made in the Fee and Access Plan corresponding to their year of entry.

We will continue to use the Wrexham Glyndŵr University website as the primary focus of all fee and student support information, as well as via printed material such as the prospectus. Comprehensive details of all fees and student support arrangements will be made available as early as possible to aid student decision making. The University provides clear statements on its website in a specific section on all fees and funding for relevant years (<https://www.glyndwr.ac.uk/en/Feesandstudentfinance/>) and will publish the fee and access plan as soon as it is approved by the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (HEFCW) as well as more detailed fees for all students for 22/23. Fee regulations and information provided covers routes of entry and all subjects and we will be careful to include consideration of specific issues such as arrangements for students transferring in from other institutions, deferring study or transferring from full-time to part-time, and being explicit that the fee includes all aspects of the course needed to complete successfully.

In providing information to prospective students the University will act in accordance with the Consumer & Markets Authority Guidance 2015 to ensure that prospective students will be provided with the information they need to make an informed decision before they apply. Therefore in addition to information on tuition fees prospective students will be provided with details of any additional items such as field trips, lab equipment or bench/studio fees (where any are applicable) that are necessary to successfully complete their qualifications. We will also provide prospective students with web links to our terms and conditions, including any rules and regulations that students are bound by, and information on course content and structure. Students who make an application and are offered a place will be provided with a comprehensive range of clear, succinct and timely information about their courses, timetables, assessments, fees, regulations, support systems, campus developments and any changes made to them.

Section 2 - Student Partnership (Guidance paragraphs 103-106)

Student involvement in creating this Plan has been direct and formal and indirect and informal, the latter becoming more valuable, important and comprehensive each year. The direct and formal involvement has been through the engagement of the Students' Union and its Sabbatical Officers, not only as contributory members on the different groups that consider and review the Plans (see sections 5 and 6 of the Plan) but also with the Planning Office directly, who lead on drawing together the Fee and Access Plans. Opportunity to consider the Plans is also used through the regular one-to-one meetings held between the Deputy Vice-Chancellor and the SU President.

Close working in partnership with the student body is an integral part of the University's approach to all areas of strategy, policy and practice of the student experience, and the 2019 QER Outcome report affirmed the effective working with students in the "co-development, management and evaluation of their student experience". This partnership approach is embodied in the extensive and thorough routes for student feedback and engagement where ensuring that action is taken to "close the feedback loop" is critical. The University outlines the value, purpose and means for such within its Student Engagement Policy and Framework, a documented process co-created with the Students' Union, and this informs the Fee and Access Plan.

Examples of the feedback routes are:

- The inclusion of a specific "Students as a Partner" strand in the Strategy for Supporting Student Learning and Achievement
- The Student Voice Fora (SVF) are effective and comprehensive across programme areas;
- The SU feedback routes of "Tell Glyn" to provide feedback on academic and operational areas and "Ask Glyn" as an online signposting resource, and with reporting on student feedback and actions taken at the Learning and Teaching Quality Committee;
- Student representation training (that has received national award) led by the Students' Union and the advocacy module for student representatives.
- Regular formal meetings of the Students' Union and Executive members, as well as involvement of sabbatical officers in key groups such as the Board of Governors, senior management team, LTQC, Academic Board and Access and Retention Group;
- Student representation is included on validation and approval events

Such engagement and feedback is used to inform the development and implementation of the Strategy for Supporting Student Learning and Achievement, Widening Access Strategy and other key areas. This is then includes the whole of the Fee and Access Plan, which is a principal means of outlining the University's intent and actions with regard to promotion of higher education and equality of opportunity, and as such informs all aspects including objectives, activities/services and the under-represented groups. This student voice is more formally represented through the active involvement of sabbatical officers on a range of key management and operational groups and committees. Additionally the Branch Officer of Y Coleg Cymraeg is a part of the Widening Access Group that leads on the development of the Plan.

Also involved in development of the Plan are those in the University responsible for working with prospective students, and a part of their input into the Plan is informed by the views of prospective students who provide feedback and comment at a range of events and activities that the University is involved in running, and this includes those involved in Reaching Wider activities. More formally, the University's Fee and Access Plan has also been considered and reviewed by colleagues in the Reaching Wider Partnership team, who are also represented on the Access and Retention Group (the body responsible for developing and monitoring the Plan).

All the above is taken through the Planning office and used in drafting the Plan, which is then again shared with the student body through the formal routes. Given the breadth and strength of the feedback processes, we are able to inform all aspects of the Plan: what do we intend to achieve; who we look to support, what we seek to do to achieve our objectives, for example. Co-delivery of services is also an important part of the provision, with the Student Advocacy Modules a good example as well as where the University works with the Students' Union on resolving student issues quickly that might otherwise become more complex and drawn out if they became more formal complaints.

Section 3 - Under-represented groups (Guidance paragraphs 107-113)

The University aims at supporting all into higher education, and the Fee and Access Plan has been developed to address specific groups who are, on a national basis, under-represented in higher education. These align to the target groups of HEFCW and Reaching Wider, and are identified as:

- Those groups identified by HEFCW as under-represented in higher education
 - Those from disadvantaged areas in Wales (as identified within the WIMD bottom two quintiles)
 - Part-time degree students;
 - Students studying through the medium of Welsh
 - Those from low participation areas of the UK (POLAR)
- Those supported through either the institutional contribution to the Reaching Wider Programme or as part of the North Wales Reaching Wider Partnership;
 - Those from disadvantaged areas in Wales (as identified within the WIMD bottom two quintiles) (as above) particularly young people and those over 21 without level 4 qualifications
 - Those of any age that are care experienced and those acting as carers
- Those groups identified by the institution as under-represented in HE:

- Students with disabilities;
- Mature students
- Females in STEM

Additionally we will continue to extend the work we do across the communities of North Wales and work collaboratively with these groups to help further identify and respond to needs in learning and education. In this work more defined target groups may be identified but will not be known until the point of collaboration. In addition, the University, through its monitoring and evaluation and in reviewing its Widening Access Strategy, will continue to review groups who are under-represented; for example, currently the University is undertaking analysis regarding the BAME student cohort at the University as well as work it is doing that could be targeted at Asylum seekers. The outcomes from this will feed first into the Widening Access Strategy, with consideration to follow about inclusion within future Fee and Access Plans.
